THE LITTLE PRINCE: CHAPTER 19

Welcome Learner! This is AHA! Learning Center. You are going to learn chapter 19 of our story "The Little Prince".

In Chapter XIX the little prince has traveled through the desert and now has a mountaintop experience. There is a long history of literature written as the hero's journey. The little prince fits the archetype of hero in many ways. He is a young person without adult support, he makes the decision to go on an adventure. He is searching for something. There are obstacles along the way, and so on. Today's objective will be to look at The Little Prince in terms of the hero's journey.

LEVEL 2: LET'S READ!

TEACHER: I know it seems so long, but I know that you can do it!

After that, the little prince climbed a high mountain. The only mountains he had ever known were the three volcanoes, which came up to his knees. And he used the extinct volcano as a footstool. "From a mountain as high as this one," he said to himself, "I shall be able to see the whole planet at one glance, and all the people..." But he saw nothing, save peaks of rock that were sharpened like needles. "Good morning," he said courteously. "Good morning--Good morning--Good morning," answered the echo. "Who are you?" said the little prince. "Who are you--Who are you--Who are you?" answered the echo. "Be my friends. I am all alone," he said. "I am all alone--all alone--all alone," answered the echo. "What a queer planet!" he thought. "It is altogether dry, and altogether pointed, and altogether harsh and forbidding. And the people have no imagination. They repeat whatever one says to them... On my planet I had a flower; she always was the first to speak..."

TEACHER: Oh no! Before skipping, you might want to consider reading Level 2. You'll understand the story much better if you don't skip the level.
